COMPLAINT FOR
DECLARATORY JUDGMENT

ECF Case

Plaintiffs McGraw-Hill School Education Holdings, LLC and McGraw-Hill Global Education Holdings, LLC (collectively and jointly here, as “McGraw-Hill Education”), by and through their undersigned attorneys, submits this Complaint for Declaratory Judgment against Defendant Minden Pictures, Inc. (“Minden”), a California corporation with a principal place of business in Watsonville, California.

Plaintiffs allege as follows:

NATURE OF ACTION

1. This is an action for a declaratory judgment of non-liability pursuant to the federal Declaratory Judgment Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2201, to resolve an actual case or controversy that has arisen between McGraw-Hill Education and Minden. Through its legal counsel, the firm of Harmon & Seidman, who are litigating eleven other copyright infringement cases against McGraw-Hill Education based on similar allegations, Minden has accused McGraw-Hill

Education of being liable for “copyright infringement and related claims” in connection with invoices issued to McGraw-Hill Education’s predecessors for usage of Minden’s photos in textbooks published by those predecessors. The near entirety of such invoices, nearly 95%, however, were issued to McGraw-Hill Education’s predecessors more than three years prior to this suit, and Minden has known of its potential claims against McGraw-Hill Education for far longer than three years. Indeed, Minden was already paid, in 2006, for precisely the kind of invoice over-runs raised in Minden’s claim letter now, more than eight years after the fact. In addition, many of the claims now being asserted against McGraw-Hill Education involve other publishers or other entities for whom McGraw-Hill Education has no responsibility or control. In light of the various valid defenses available to McGraw-Hill Education, Minden’s assertions of illusory, barred, or non-meritorious claims against McGraw-Hill Education have harmed, and threaten to continue to harm, the plaintiffs.

THE PARTIES

2. Plaintiff McGraw-Hill School Education Holdings, LLC is a limited liability company organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, with its principal place of business located at 2 Penn Plaza, New York, New York, 10121. McGraw-Hill School Education Holdings, LLC is the successor in interest to the elementary and secondary schools textbook publishing business previously operated by The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc., now known as McGraw-Hill Financial, Inc. McGraw-Hill School Education Holdings, LLC has assumed all rights and liabilities related to those publications placed at issue by Minden that were initially published by the Schools Education Group, or related divisions, or their predecessors or successors, within The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc.

3. Plaintiff McGraw-Hill Global Education Holdings, LLC is a limited liability company organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, with its principal place of business located at 2 Penn Plaza, New York, New York, 10121. McGraw-Hill Global Education Holdings, LLC is the successor in interest to the post-secondary and higher education textbook publishing business previously operated by The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc., now known as McGraw-Hill Financial, Inc. McGraw-Hill Global Education Holdings, LLC has assumed all rights and liabilities related to those publications placed at issue by Minden that were initially published by the Higher Education Group, or related divisions, or their predecessors or successors, within The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc.

4. Defendant Minden Pictures, Inc., is an independently owned and operated stock photography business, the primary business of which is the licensing of stock photos to publishers, including McGraw-Hill Education. Minden's principal place of business is in Watsonville, California. Minden engaged in business with McGraw-Hill Education and its predecessors in New York for more than twenty years, including entering into a preferred vendor agreement with McGraw-Hill Education's predecessors. The claims at issue in this matter arise from a business relationship between Minden and McGraw-Hill Education and its predecessors during which Minden was always aware of the publisher's location in New York.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

5. This is an action for a declaratory judgment pursuant to the federal Declaratory Judgment Act, 28 U.S.C. § 2201.

6. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2201, which authorizes the Court to declare the rights and other legal relations between interested parties, and 28 U.S.C. § 1338, which provides for jurisdiction in connection with claims arising under the copyright laws.

7. Venue is proper in this district under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b) and 1400(a).

8. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Minden pursuant to N.Y. Civ. Prac. L. & R. 301 because, upon information and belief, Minden has purposely targeted its activities to and has systematically transacted, done, and solicited business in this district, and pursuant to N.Y. Civ. Prac. L. & R. 302(a) because Minden transacted business with and contracted to provide services within the state of New York either to McGraw-Hill Education and its predecessors, and the claims herein arise out of that business activity.

FACTS COMMON TO ALL CLAIMS

9. McGraw-Hill Education is a global publisher of textbooks and educational materials to customers worldwide, with its core business focused on the publication of educational materials, including textbooks, for students from kindergarten through college.

10. McGraw-Hill Education's textbooks and other educational publications generally contain contributions from multiple sources, including photographs obtained from third parties, and constitute collective works within the meaning of the Copyright Act.

11. Minden is a stock photo agency representing commercial photographers whose photos are offered for use by Minden under agency representation agreements that authorize Minden to grant permission to publishers such as McGraw-Hill Education and its predecessors.

12. Minden is a frequent litigant asserting copyright infringement claims against textbook publishers; however, in a series of rulings since March 5, 2013, Minden has been found to lack standing to assert such claims. See, e.g., Minden Pictures Inc. v. John Wiley & Sons, Inc., 10 F. Supp. 3d 1117 (N.D. Cal. 2014); Minden Pictures, Inc. & John Wiley & Sons, Inc., No. C-

12-4601-EMC, 2013 WL 1995208 (N.D. Cal. May 13, 2013); Minden Pictures, Inc. v. Pearson Education, Inc., 929 F. Supp. 2d 962 (N.D. Cal. 2013).

13. Since at least 1994, McGraw-Hill Education and its predecessors entered into transactions with Minden through which the publisher requested and paid for permission to use certain of stock photographs offered by Minden. Generally, for each transaction, the publisher would identify to Minden which archived stock photos the publisher wished to use for a particular textbook project or other publication. Thereafter, Minden would issue an invoice to the publisher specifying a price for the usage that the publisher had requested, and the publisher would then include the photograph in its publication.

14. Prior to 2006, McGraw-Hill Education's predecessors had a comprehensive agreement with Minden that authorized the publisher to use Minden's photos under certain terms and conditions. This agreement, and the entire course of dealing between the publisher and Minden over the long history of their relationship, established that the publisher had consent from Minden to use Minden-represented photos in all of the publisher's textbook products. The parties' agreement established the pricing levels that Minden was permitted to charge for the usage that the publisher made of the Minden-represented photos.

15. In the normal course of its dealings with Minden, McGraw-Hill Education and its predecessors provided pre-publication estimates of what they anticipated would be the level of the distribution of the books in which the Minden photos would appear. Minden then issued invoices for payment by the publisher based on those estimates, which the publisher then paid.

16. In some instances, the market demand for McGraw-Hill Education's publications may have exceeded the initial estimates of anticipated distribution for those books. In such circumstances, Minden could seek additional payment from McGraw-Hill Education for the unanticipated distribution.

17. In 2006, after a review by McGraw-Hill Education's School Education Group, several instances of invoice over-runs involving Minden-represented photos were identified by the School Education Group, and additional payments for such usage were made to Minden based on the pricing terms in the parties' preferred vendor agreement. At that time in 2006, Minden was well aware that the School Education Group's over-run payments did not involve potential invoice over-runs for books published by other divisions within The McGraw-Hill Companies, Inc., and Minden was well aware through its counsel and others in the stock photo trade of the risk of such over-runs as well as the opportunity to contact the publisher's other divisions to seek additional payments for other invoice over-runs. Minden, however, elected not to pursue any further payments for any other invoice over-runs, nor to inquire regarding the extent of such potential over-runs, until it sent a demand letter seeking payment for alleged invoice over-runs on December 1, 2014.

18. On December 1, 2014, Minden's counsel sent a demand letter seeking compensation for alleged "copyright infringement and related claims" based on a claim chart that summarized 3,010 purported claims of allegedly unauthorized use of photos represented by Minden. A true and correct copy of this demand letter and its accompanying claim chart is attached here, and incorporated by reference, as Exhibit 1.

19. Certain of the claims included in Minden's claim chart relate to transactions with separate entities for which McGraw-Hill Education has no responsibility or control, including MacMillan, McGraw-Hill Ryerson, Ltd. (a Canadian company separate from McGraw-Hill Education), National Geographic, and Polish Scientific Publishers.

20. McGraw-Hill Education believes that it is not liable for “copyright infringement and related claims” with regard to the transactions identified in Minden’s claim chart.

21. Based on the past conduct of Minden’s counsel in other suits against McGraw-Hill Education under similar circumstances, as well as the demands in Minden’s December 1, 2014, claim letter, McGraw-Hill Education has a reasonable, good-faith belief that there is a ripe and justiciable case or controversy between the parties. McGraw-Hill Education has a reasonable and legitimate anticipation of litigation regarding the transactions listed in Minden’s claim chart, as well as potentially other claims by Minden against McGraw-Hill Education.

22. At no time has Minden or his counsel indicated that they would refrain from filing suit relating to the subject matter of Minden’s December 1, 2014, claim letter.

23. Among the various valid and enforceable defenses to any claim of copyright infringement by Minden are the following:

- a. The agreements and course of dealing between Minden and McGraw-Hill Education and its predecessors provide McGraw-Hill Education with permission, that is consent, either explicit or implied, for its usage of Minden’s photos.
- b. McGraw-Hill Education has not exceeded any invoice restrictions with respect to certain of the claims threatened by Minden.
- c. Many of the claims threatened by Minden relate to alleged uses of photographs that occurred beyond the limitations period for copyright infringement actions, and thus such claims are barred by the Copyright Act’s statute of limitation.

- d. Many of the photos itemized in Minden's claim chart do not appear to have valid copyright registrations sufficient to provide a basis for suit under the Copyright Act.
- e. In light of prior litigation by Minden against other publishers based on similar theories, it appears that Minden lacks standing to pursue copyright infringement claims on the basis of the photos listed in Minden's claim chart.
- f. Certain of the claims alleged in Minden's claim chart do not relate to publishing divisions for which McGraw-Hill Education is responsible or liable.
- g. To the extent that certain of Minden's threatened claims relate to McGraw-Hill Education's inclusion of a Minden photo in a later edition or revised version of a work for which McGraw-Hill Education previously had been licensed, such reuse is non-infringing pursuant to the revision privilege contained in Section 201(c) of the Copyright Act.

24. In light of these various likely defenses, and others to be determined through discovery, Minden has no valid claims against McGraw-Hill Education.

CLAIM FOR DECLARATORY RELIEF

25. McGraw-Hill Education realleges and incorporates each of the above allegations as set forth in the preceding paragraphs by reference as if set forth herein at length.

26. Minden has claimed that McGraw-Hill Education is liable to him for "copyright infringement and related claims" based on allegedly unauthorized use of Minden's photos in McGraw-Hill Education publications.

27. Minden and its counsel have threatened to pursue these claims against McGraw-Hill Education through legal action.

28. An actual, present and justiciable controversy has arisen between McGraw-Hill Education and Minden concerning McGraw-Hill Education's alleged liability for McGraw-Hill Education's use of Minden's photographs.

29. McGraw-Hill Education has suffered and will continue to suffer harm as a result of the uncertainty concerning the potential liability for the transactions identified in Minden's December 1, 2014 demand letter.

30. McGraw-Hill Education is not liable to Minden for the alleged claims of copyright infringement listed in Minden's claim chart, based on the various defenses and others summarized herein.

31. Minden's claims of copyright infringement against McGraw-Hill Education warrant judicial relief from this Court in the form of a declaration of non-liability based on the defenses summarized herein.

WHEREFORE, McGraw-Hill prays for a declaratory judgment in its favor against Minden for the following relief:

A. An Order declaring that for each of the instances in which McGraw-Hill Education is alleged to be liable for copyright infringement, McGraw-Hill Education is in fact not liable;

B. An award to McGraw-Hill Education of its costs and disbursements incurred in this action, including its reasonable attorney's fees; and

C. Such other and additional relief as this Court may deem just, proper and equitable.

Dear Mr. Stafford:

Harmon & Seidman LLC has been retained to represent Minden Pictures, Inc. ("Minden") regarding copyright infringement and related claims against McGraw-Hill Global Education Holdings, LLC and McGraw-Hill School Education Holdings, LLC ("McGraw-Hill").

Attached is a spreadsheet of Minden images that were licensed to McGraw-Hill for limited use, identifying publications, terms, fees, and copyright registration status.

Please advise by December 8, 2014 if McGraw-Hill is interested in discussing a settlement of this matter that would obviate the need for litigation. If so, please sign the attached tolling agreement or propose one (before December 8, 2014) if you have preferred language. The tolling agreement will give us time to establish an agreed-upon protocol for settling Minden's claims and time to exchange information we mutually decide is necessary to evaluate the claims.

If pre-filing negotiations are not of interest, we would like to address this language on the Minden Pictures website:

Since it is difficult to determine damages resulting from unauthorized usage, in the event you utilize an Image other than for the usage indicated on our Invoice, we agree to forego our right to sue you for copyright infringement and you agree to pay, as liquidated damages, a retroactive license equal to ten (10) times the normal price we would have charged for such unauthorized use within ten (10) days of our billing such fee. If you fail to timely make such payment, this liquidated damage provision shall be void and we shall have the right to sue for copyright infringement and/or breach of contract, for which we shall seek all damages and remedies available, including attorney's fees and all associated costs.

In parallel litigation, it has been contended that this or similar language is a pre-condition to suit, while the infringer withholds usage information to prevent the accurate calculation of a billing. So, if McGraw-Hill requires a "file now, settle later" approach, Minden makes the following offer:

Christopher Seidman
101 South 3rd St., Suite 265
PO Box 3207
Grand Junction, CO 81501

Tel: 970-245-9075
Fax: 970-245-8086
chris@harmonseidman.com
(Licensed in CO, NY, CA)

Minden offers to settle all copyright infringement and contract claims relating to invoices issued to McGraw-Hill for ten times the normal price it would have charged for the unauthorized uses made by McGraw-Hill. This offer shall expire in ten (10) days and is contingent upon McGraw-Hill's agreement that McGraw-Hill will (1) disclose within a reasonable time all unauthorized uses of the invoiced works, and (2) pay Minden within ten (10) days of receipt of its billing for such unauthorized uses.

Our hope, and belief, is that this matter can be resolved without litigation if both parties are motivated and realistic. Minden is.

Thank you for your timely response on or before December 8, 2014.

Sincerely,

Christopher Seidman

TOLLING AGREEMENT

McGraw-Hill Global Education Holdings, LLC and McGraw-Hill School Education Holdings, LLC ("McGraw-Hill") hereby agree that the time between December 1, 2014 and its written notification otherwise, shall not count in any assertion, pleading, answer, motion, or any defense or avoidance based on the running of any statute of limitations that may otherwise apply during this tolled period. Further, McGraw-Hill hereby agrees that it will relinquish any defense or avoidance of liability based on laches or any other related or similar principles concerning the timeliness of commencing a civil action during this tolled period.
